

Boat Transport Companies

Boat Transport Companies will require for you to have you boat prepared for the transport to make sure there is no hassle. Unless the company has stated they will do a certain preparation for the transport then it is your responsibility to prepare the boat for the move. You have to assure that all of the doors on the boat are securely closed, any batteries and cables are disconnected and that the boat is covered in shrink wrap. Shrink wrap is a surface sealed by heat to keep the sun and water from touching the surface. Wooden boats are subjected to be transported in custom cradles. The majority of boat transport companies will not accept any responsibility for any damage to the boat in result of improper preparation.

The person who is transporting the boat must survey the exterior of the boat. He will write down the condition of the boat at that given moment. This is so they can spot any damages that occurred during the transportation process.

The transport companies are able to haul boats and yachts of any size from small to large. They usually offer a great service with professionals doing the job so you know that it's a safe investment. They will inform you very in depth on port delivery, freight information and insurance coverage.

If the boat can fit in a container the size of a container vessel then it will be shipped in the container. However, if larger, it will be placed on a flat rack where it is strapped in place to secure it safely.
